

Passerelle du Millénaire Neuchâtel

The structure forms part of Ecoparc neighborhood. It aims at offering a new soft mobility link between the station plateau and the Mail hill. It fosters in particular students' transfers between the Arc Campus and the University. Its architectural and structural concept stems from a careful reading of the site's historical, morphologic and spatial specificities. The contextual approach enables the project to create a precise link into the territory, to guarantee a subtle integration within the neighborhood and to express a specific and balanced identity.
