

Competition for the Camille Bloch Visitors' Centre Courtelary

The architecture of the administrative and visitors' centre building stands out for its outer shell which is particularly representative of the Camille Bloch SA company and gives it its exclusive identity. The building contributes to marking out the site's boundaries, between the mineral aspect of the road and the surrounding green spaces. South of the road, the production and logistic building blends with the existing environment and allows for easy future expansion. The overhead walkway provides an efficient and comfortable link-up for all site users.
